Key Features

Priority Access to Consultants: Enjoy priority scheduling with our expert consultants, ensuring that your business receives immediate attention and expertise when needed, streamlining your IT strategy and problem resolution.

Flexible Time Increments: Utilise your consultancy time flexibly, with the option for remote support in increments of 1 hour or onsite assistance in half-day blocks, catering to your specific operational needs and schedule.

Versatile Use of Time: Our consultancy time can be applied towards a variety of tasks, from routine maintenance and health checks to ensure your IT infrastructure's optimal performance, to strategic project work and ad hoc tasks that require specialised attention.

Support Issue Escalation: Leverage our consultancy services for the escalation of support issues to our experienced team, providing a pathway to resolutions and minimising downtime for critical IT systems and processes.

Dedicated Project Management Allocation: For projects spanning 2 days or more, dedicated project management is provided, utilising 20% of the project duration to ensure optimal organisation and execution, enhancing overall project success with precise coordination and oversight.

Project Delivery: At Kick, we utilise the PQJS methodology for our ICT Project delivery. PQJS (Professional Quality Implementation Services) is a structured methodology for delivering successful IT projects and solutions. It encompasses end-to-end project management across six key phases: Project Initiation, Plan, Design, Build, Deploy, and Review. With an emphasis on discovery, planning, communication, training, testing, and adoption, PQJS ensures implementations meet defined objectives on time and budget.
